

ICAR-NIANP, Bengaluru inks MoU with NDVSU, Jabalpur

ICAR- National Institute of Animal Nutrition and & Physiology, Bangalore signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoA) with Nanaji Deshmukh Veterinary Science University, Jabalpur for promoting research and education. The MoU was signed by Dr Raghavendra Bhatta, Director of ICAR-NIANP, Bangalore and the Hon. Vice Chancellor of NDVSU, Jabalpur Dr S P Tiwari on behalf of their respective Organizations on 21st September 2022. The MoU is aimed at promoting an Inter-Institutional Collaborative Research and Academic Engagements in the areas of common interest.

Dr. Raghavendra Bhatta outlined the main objective of the MoU to stimulate and facilitate the collaboration and promote the mutually interested common programmes that help advance the interests of the scientific studies. He stressed that the National and International Level Collaborative Programmes and Engagements for enhanced outreach & awareness on technological outcomes and Success Stories would be aimed through the MoU. He further emphasized that ICAR-NIANP has state-of-the-art facilities such as Centre for Laboratory Animal Research (CLAR), a BSL-II facility for laboratory animal research, Centre for climate resilient animal adaptation studies and many important laboratories. The institute also recently constructed hostel for the benefit of students.

Dr Tiwari, Hon. VC. NDVSU emphasized that the MoU will help in collaborative research and students research at NIANP, Bengaluru.